Description

Baby Blocky collar, features

- The Webbing - BLOCKY DOGS® collars are two layers thick, each layer having an average break strength of over 5,500 pounds in the 1" width.
- The Width - Spreads out the strain placed on the front of the neck caused by pulling; thereby putting less force on the trachea.
- The Hardware - Only stainless steel, nickel-plated steel and solid brass are used. All hardware is welded.
- The Buckle - Stainless steel buckles spreading out the stress points and reducing the chances of a really heavy-duty dog snapping a buckle tongue under pressure.
- D-Rings -- The main D-rings are very heavy, welded, Stainless steel and are custom manufactured for the BLOCKY DOGS® company (you will not find these D-rings in any other dog collars).
- The Grommets - Industrial grommets in heat-sealed holes prevent stretching and fraying of the holes. (We do not use eyelets. And we haven't ever had a grommet come out of a collar).

- The Stitching - BLOCKY DOGS® collars are double-stitched on all edges with rot, mold, mildew and heat resistant bonded nylon thread.
- The Tiny ID Tag D-ring is designed to lay to the side of your dog's neck instead of down in front on the chest where other tags fall.
